WHITE PLAINS.

A novel case has been on trial before Judge A novel case has been on trial before Judge Keegh, in the Supreme Court, W. H. Nelson, who owns a fancy stock farm at Somer, Westchester County, brought suit to recover $2,349 from Park J. White, recently manager of the Bartholdi Hotel, in New-York City. Nelson made a contract to supply milk to the Bartholdi Hotel. He has a milk depot New-York City. Nelson made a centract to supply milk to the Bartholdi Hotel. He has a milk depot at No. 219 West Thirty-fifth-st., New-York, and from November, 1894, to July, 1895, he supplied the hotel with 7,444 quarts of milk, the price ranging from three to four cents a quart. During the same period he supplied the hotel with 9,913 quarts of cream at 15 cents a quart. The amount claimed for the milk and cream was $1,879, the interest on this amount being 4470. While there was no dispute as to the amount of Nelson's bill, Mr. White claimed that he was simply the hotel manager, the hotel being run by a stock company. Although the bills for the milk were made out to the Bartholdi Hotel, Mr. Nelson claimed that Mr. White contracts for the milk were made out to the Bartholdi Hotel, Mr. Nelson claimed that Mr. White Nelson could not recover from Mr. White. Nelson will probably take the case to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Justice Keegh yesterday granted a divorce to Nathan Acker from Pora D. Acker, on the ground that there was no legal marriage between them. They lived in Irvington. The marriage took place on August 26, 1897. At that time it appears that Mrs. Acker already had a husband, in the person of Albert Nickerson. They were married on August 26, 1897. At that time it appears that Mrs. Acker already had a husband, in the person of Albert Nickerson. They were married on August 5, 1894, but were never divorced.

Mrs. Annie L. Pierson yesterday secured a verdict of $4,000 in the Supreme Court against the New-York. New-Haven and Hartford Railroad. She sued as the executify of her husband, Charles L. Pierson, and claimed $6,000. He was a New-Haven Railroad engineer, and was killed on September 10, 1897, while running the Springfield express.

An alarm was sounded on Wednesday evening for a fire in the Dorothy Block, in Main-st., owned by William B. Smith, and occupied by the large dry-goods and clothing house of Frankel & Co. A clerk in lighting the gas jets in the some draper-les. The flames spread rapidly, and the building, which is a frame structure, was soon a mass of smoke and flame. Dr. William H. Hyler, a drug-gist on the other side of the street, was one of the first to notice the blaze. Knowing that Mrs. Arthur Taylor and her children were on the second floor, he ran up the autside stairway of the burning building and burst in the door. Taking the buly in

The muddle in which this city is involved because of the existence of two bodies, both claiming to be the legal Board of Health, it is said, is soon to be extited. P. J. Terrey, clerk of the old Board, has resigned, and the Common Council has adopted a resolution to pay him all the money due him. As Mr. Tierney was the person through which the old Board transacted most of its business, it is believed that his withdrawal will break up the opposition to the new Board, now recognized by Mayor Dillon and his administration.

YONKERS. Mayor Sutherland's first official act in connection with the new Common Council of Yonkers was to sent to that body last night, for confirmation as City Treasurer, the name of John O. Campbell, to years has held that office. Owing to Mr. Getty's advanced age of nearly ninety years, he was forced to resign. Mr. Getty was one of the original di-rectors of the elecated railroad in New-York City. rectors of the elevated railroad in New-York City, then known as the West Side Elevated Railroad. He was a director of the Bank of North America, the Hudson River Railroad Company, vice-president of the Produce Exchange and a member of the Board of Directors of the Corn Exchange and the Merchants' Insurance Company. He was also a member of the New-York City Board of Aldermen in 1848, and a member of the Board of Education. He was born in Londonderry, Ireland, in 1811, and came to America with his father when he was thirteen years old. Mr. Getty came to Yonkers fifty years ago, and built the Getty House and made other improvements. He was a trustee of the village for a number of years, and has been a director of several banks and other corporations.

in New-Brighton, Staten Island, yesterday, for assault upon Edward M. Stothers, a Manhattan lawyer, who lives in Port Richmond. The assault was committed upon the night of November 7, and badly injured by a brick thrown by one of the gang that it was found necessary to remove it,

The boy who threw the brick, known only as 'Reddy," escaped on the day following the assault years old; William Pool, sixteen years old; William Perrine, fifteen years old; James Smith, sixteen years old, and Benjamin Westerfield, thirteen years old. The boys all admitted that they had been gathering barrels for bonfires, and that Stothers had ordered them away from his house, in Stothers testified that when he had ordered the boys to go away they refused to do so. Stothers then chased them, whereupon they crowded around around him and beat him with clubs. There were about thirty in the crowd, but the five defendants were the only ones he could recognize, with the exception of "Reddy," who escaped. The Court, composed of Justices Fitzgerald, Keady and Forker, found the boys guilty, and sent four of them to the House of Refuge. West-erfield was allowed to go under suspension of sentence, at the carnest plea of his mother, who promised to care for him better in the future. The Capitain said that this was not true. He said ne went to the Waldorf-Astoria to find a man. He had a talk with him, and got Detective Manion to take him to Police Headquarters. There was no escape or pursuit.

The man was arraigned in the Centre-st, court. Detective Manion said he was Carroll B. Eubana, twonty-two years old, of Richmond, Va., and was suspected of being a fugitive from justice from Richmond. Capitain McClusky had communicated by telegraph with the Chief of Police there, who said that Eubana was not the man wanted. He was discharged.

ELEVATED ROAD OFFICIALS PAINED.

President Murphy of the Health Board is quoted as saying faitly: "I consider that the road's officers are working for another delay. I can see in their proposals no other motive." When these remarks were shown yesterday afternoon to the company's officials their faces assumed looks of pained surprise but they had nothing to

Lord & Taylor,

TO ENJOIN PALACE CAR UNION.

JUSTICE BEEKMAN ASKED TO RESTRAIN THE SELLING OUT OF THE WAG-NER COMPANY.

Justice Beekman, in the Supreme Court, yesterday heard argument and reserved decision on an application to restrain the directors of the Wagner Palace Car Company from carrying out an agreement entered into with the directors of th Pullman Palace Car Company to sell to the latter corporation their property of all kinds and their goodwill, and to dissolve the Wagner Palace Car lompany.

The action for the injunction is brought by William H. N. Francis, the holder of 100 shares to the Wagner company, and he names as defendants Dr. W. Seward Webb, James D. Taylor, William K. Vanderbilt, Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew, E. V. W. Rossiter, Samuel F. Barger and H. Walter Webb, who comprise the Board of Directors of the Wagner company.

John W. Hutchinson, who with George H. Yeanan, appeared for the plaintiff, said his client of minority stockholders in the Wagner company corporation's property to the Pullman company He contended that the sale would be by a company incorporated in the State of New-York to a foreign corporation, organized under the laws of the State of Illincis, and that it would create a monopoly which would be in restraint of trade and against public policy, and which would be unlawful under the laws of Illinois.

Counsel asked that an injunction be issued restraining the Wagner company from dissolving or transferring its property to the Pullman company, holding that it was doing a large and profitable business, and that his clients would be irreparably injured if the scheme of amalgamation were to be carried out.

ACADEMY OF DESIGN'S BUILDING.

ITS NEW STRUCTURE TO COST $800,000-THD

MAYOR SUGGESTS A SITE IN ONE OF THE PARKS.

It was rumored in art circles yesterday that the National Academy of Design had asked the city authorities for aid in building its future home on Morningslde Heights, which will cost $800,000. After the purchase of a site at One-hundred-and-tenth-st. and Amsterdam-ave., for about $55,000, the Academicians had a building fund for the erection of the new academy building amounting to about $200,000. In order to raise the required $600,000, appeals were made to wealthy New-Yorker by a Ways and Means Committee consisting of J. Carroll Beckwith, chairman; J. C. Nicoll, James D. Smillie, J. G. Brown, Lockwood de Forest and Benjamin C. Porter. Some of the most generous subscriptions received were: Collis P. Huntington, $25,000; the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, $10,000; ex-Governor Levi P. Morton, $5,000; Jacob H. Schiff, $5,090; William E. Dodge, $5,000, and William V. Lawrence, $5,000.

Regarding the report that Mayor Van Wyck had been asked by Academicians to aid the institution J. Carroll Beckwith said yesterday to a Tribune reporter:

We did call on the Mayor several months ago, and found him not only familiar with the purposes of the academy and its work, but much interested in its success. As the academy is distinctly a public benefactor by reason of its free schools and free Sundays, both of which are taken advantage of to the fullest extent by the citizens, we are at a loss to see why the city should not in some manner contribute to the institution's support. It was very gratifying to find Mayor Van Wyck so disposed, although he indicated in the charter a paragraph which made it impossible for the city to give the institution money for its support. The Mayor, however, suggested that the city might be able in other respects to acknowledge the benefits of the institution for the city.

Of course, the city has land in its new park sites, which might be embellished and made more attractive by a large structure such as the current would undoubtedly build, and the Mayor suggested that if the academy would select a site in one of the new parks, he would favor the city giving it to the institution. But as there is much dissatisfaction expressed at present toward the remotences of our new site on Morningside Heights, the institution could not entertain a proposition to remove itself further from the central portion of the city.

Now that it is reported that the Union Club will remove itself further from the central portion of the city.

Now that it is reported that the Union Club will become the possessor of the lower part of the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum property in Fifthave, is it not a pity that the other part of this block could not be purchased and built upon by the academy? But, unfortunately, unless some public spirited and cultured citizen can come forward to its aid, this is not to be entertained.

The gifts to the endowment fund of $100,000, the income of which will be used for maintenance, have now reached nearly $75,000. This will release, when complete, the $100,000 appropriated by the institution for maintenance two years ago, which sum will be added to the building fund, making in hand nearly $350,000 for building purposes. This, together with the $250,000 invested in the site, which is paid for, in full, shows the institution to be on an excellent footing, although with not sufficient means to proceed with the structure which has been planned.
